Letter From Commissioner Green
 Attributes Success of Corporation Laying Largely to His Efforts and Judge Chamberlain Says Enough Was Perfection.

One of the most pleasant features connected with the laying of the cornerstone of the proposed Roundout street bridge by Governor Smith Saturday afternoon was the efficient work and assistance given by Charles J. Michaud, who has the contract for the concrete work on the bridge. Mr. Michaud exerted every effort to make the affair the brilliant success it was.

and his work was appreciated not only by the state officials, but the distinguished guests as well, as the following letters plainly show.

Highway Commissioner Frederick Stuart Greene, under date of September 10, writes as follows to Mr. Michaud:

"My Dear Mr. Michaud:
On behalf of His Excellency, the governor, and for myself, permit me to thank you for the splendid work

you did and all the assistance you gave towards making a success of

By Telegram to the President.

Marion, O., Sept. 21.—The Republican campaign directors are "boiling from within" to win the labor vote of the country and to offset so far as possible the effect of Samuel Gompers's appeal to labor to support the Cox-Roosevelt ticket in November.

John Nohr and P. H. McCarthy, both prominently identified with the labor movement on the Pacific coast, assured Senator Harding a few days ago that Pacific coast labor will go resoundingly for him in November.

Today Senator Harding had a conference with W. D. Lammie, national representative of the Illinois Miners, and James told the candidate that Campbell would not swing labor into

"Compton's effort will fall just as it has always failed," said James in a statement after the conference. "For the last few months I have been in the south in Illinois, Minnesota and in Colorado and I have found that the masses who are Republicans are against what was and the masses who

The first major speech will be made by the Hon. Daniel A. Claitor at 7:00 p.m.

UNLESS ALL SIGNS FAIL

Unless some glaring blunder is made between now and election day, some error that will shake the entire state, Governor Alfred E. Smith, the candidate of the Democrats, will be defeated. That he has a large circle of acquaintances will not be appreciable in effect in 1932, when the people have made up their minds to elect Republicans. This year Governor Smith is looked upon as the favorite son of Tammany Hall, part and parcel of the organization, and he will have to stand or fall as a party man and not as an individual.

No one perhaps realizes this more fully than Governor Smith, for what he lacks in statesmanship he makes up in political cunning. Furthermore, while the hope that attends running for office may injure one's vision it is reasonable to believe that "Al" is convinced that whatever happens to his party in 1932 will happen to him, for even with his former popularity he would not claim that persons are bigger than parties. In this respect it is a foregone conclusion that New York state will give a tremendous Republican majority for Harding and Miller.

Two years ago Governor Smith was inaugurated not because he was elected but rather because of conditions which led to the defeat of Charles S. Whitman. It will be remembered distinctly, however, that every other Republican on the ticket was elected by a vote as large as usual, proving that the state-own then was safely Republican and that Smith was a victim of circumstances and not some one chosen as a leader or statesman. In other words a Tammany Governor was by default instead of accomplishing either a personal or party victory.

No man is stronger than the organization of which he is a part. Centennial occasionally prompts some to think they are but ultimately even the greatest of them have to admit that they were wrong in their conclusions. This year the Democratic candidates will have to sink or swim with their party, for it will bear repeating that when there is a real crisis principles are remembered and persons are forgotten. In such a period popularity has no value, and this is a year when the fate of a nation is at stake and when big men instead of good fellows have the call.

Nathan L. Miller, the Republican candidate for Governor, has made no personal attack on Governor Smith and Nathan L. Miller is not the caliber of man to resort to personal thrusts. Nevertheless the candidate of the Republicans will attack the Democratic party and Governor Smith is a Democrat, Tammany Democrat, who will have to defend his party as a Democrat. This is just where Governor Smith will find himself emeshed for he cannot repudiate his party, the party which made him. On the contrary he will have to defend it, and in his position he will have to answer for it as part of the whole. This is where he will be measured as a Democrat, Tammany Democrat, and not just "Al" Smith.

URGING WOMEN TO VOTE

Women in the mass have been so slow to qualify as voters that party leaders are alarmed and are urging them to come forward. They say truly enough that every intelligent and good woman should conscientiously do so because all the less intelligent and less well disposed women will be sure to register and vote, but one can see between the lines the anxiety of party leaders lest the opposition party succeed in inducing a large proportion of women to go to the polls. Woman suffrage was thrust upon Maryland against the wishes of its majority, but even in Maryland this anxiety is noticeable. In an editorial urging the women to come forward, the Baltimore Sun says: "The registration figures in New York Maine and other states show that a very large part of the feminine electorate—almost 50 per cent in some cases—is either utterly indifferent or hostile to the new privilege. These women are like the proverbial horse that may be driven to water but can not be made to drink. They have been forced by a persistently active minority of their sex into a position to which they were averse, and they are inclined to show their resentment by refusing to be dragged by the hoarse sisterhood. If women vote this year, the reluctant women are the ones, above all others, who should do so, and it would be almost a calamity if they did not."

Even Cardinal Gibbons, who consistently opposed woman suffrage has given out a statement in Baltimore urging all women to go to the polls. "It is their duty, both to register and to vote," he says, "and especially in the coming Presidential election. They should vote for the candidate who will in their opinion contribute most to the material and social progress of the state." It is to be hoped that such exhortations will not fall upon many deaf ears, for there is much at stake.

FABLES OF OUR CITY

Once upon a time there was a man who kept saying, "Why don't the Chamber of Commerce do this and that and the other thing." Himself he never helped. He didn't join, he didn't pay. He didn't work for the Chamber.

He just criticized. Whatever the Chamber did he always tried to pick flaws in it. He would not be fair with the Chamber or himself.

He got into a bad habit and wouldn't get out of it. But now he has woken up. He is going to pay and take off his coat and work.

When he goes something that the Chamber is not doing that he thinks it is right to do he is not going to say, "What is the matter with the Chamber of Commerce? Why in Sam Hill don't they do something?" He is going to take off his coat and fall to and help do it.

And so he will get along better with his fellow men and get along better with himself and Kingston will grow bigger and better.

And pretty soon he will be saying, "We have got a corking good Chamber of Commerce, look what we have done, I helped to do it."

Now don't you think he will have a better time than he used to have. Sure he will.

AT THE THEATERS

"The Rose of China," Musical Romance Extraordinary.

"The Rose of China," the Chinese musical romance which enjoyed such phenomenal popularity at the Lyric Theater, New York, and the Auditorium and La Salle Theaters, Chicago, last season, is the attraction at the Kingston Opera House tonight. It is seldom that a musical performance of the high calibre of this Guy Bolton-P. G. Wodehouse and Armand V. G. Wodehouse and Armand V. G. Wodehouse effort strikes such a popular chord, but when attention is called to its beautiful melodies, its diverting comedy and the lavish picturesque of its urban settings, it is not difficult to account for its wide appeal.

Let us introduce Dorothy Gish as Mary Ellen at Keener's tonight. Mary Ellen is a small town girl, but she's too big for her town. So, if you know Dorothy Gish you know that she could start a lot of excitement and then get out. That's what happens in the photoplay tonight, which is entitled "Mary Ellen Comes to Town." Harold Lloyd in "His Royal Snyss" is also on the program for tonight. Tomorrow Wallace Reid in "Double Speed."

Anna Lehr and Ralph Kellard in "The Veiled Marriage" is the attraction at the Auditorium tonight. It's a thrilling story of a man's fight for his best friend and how he won makes a very interesting photoplay. A two part western thriller is featured on the same program. Tomorrow Ethel Clayton in "Husband and Wife."

Souza and his band will be here Saturday afternoon at the Opera House.

FEW Eatables LOWER IN PRICE

Sugar, Potatoes and Onions Among the Only Articles That Show Decrease Here in Food Covered by Government's Partial Report.

Announcement has been made by the department of labor's bureau of labor statistics at Washington that food costs have dropped in many cities on twenty-seven of the forty-three standard articles going into the family market basket between July 15 and August 15. A reporter of The Freeman who made a call on wholesale and retail dealers on Monday and asked them about what price conditions are in this city at present as compared to from a month to six weeks ago found that in only a few articles have prices decreased to any very perceptible extent. The exceptions were sugar, potatoes and onions. Coffee has dropped about 10 per cent in the past two months.

Potatoes which are being sold from $1.50 to $1.75 a bushel, and by retailers at 59 cents the peck, have dropped considerably in late July selling for $1.50 a bushel, the reduction being caused by reason of the potatoes coming in from the local gardens. Potato growers feared that their potatoes would rot this season the same as they did last year and dug considerable early and this caused a drop in prices. They have since ascertained that the anticipated rot did not appear. It is expected that potatoes will be lower when late potatoes come in as it is said the Maine crop is large and that there will be many potatoes in the potato counties like Washington and Jefferson. Onions are selling for 60 cents the bushel, in comparison with $3 a bushel two months ago. Sugar has shown the biggest drop now retailing at 17 cents the pound for the best, while granulated in many stores while some still charge 18 to 19 cents the pound. Six weeks ago sugar retailed from 24 to 27 cents a pound.

Butter is about one cent a pound more now than two months ago. Tub butter in August brought 55 cents a pound, while today the market is from 59 to 60 cents a pound. Eggs, like butter, fluctuate and are not going down, going up slowly. The wholesalers are getting 64 to 65 a dozen for fresh crate eggs, while strictly fresh are sold wholesale at 75 cents a dozen to dealers. Cheese shows a falling off in price of about 3 per cent. Flour has shown no change in some weeks.

Inquiry of the wholesalers in dressed meats showed that beef, lamb pork and smoked meats are higher. Beef has shown the smallest increase but is considered high, although the price has been about the same since July, going up a few cents a pound some weeks and dropping a cent or so the next. Pork has shown an increase of 10 per cent since last year this time. This is because pork is scarce. Last year the farmers raised quite a number of pigs and butchered and brought the pigs to market and solicited purchasers, but this year the local butcher in order to get pork has to hustle around and beg the farmer who has raised any pigs to sell to him. Then, too, the wholesale houses are getting only small shipments of pork from the west. Smoked meats of all kinds are higher.

In the fruit line grapes are higher than last year and the Concord which are due in about two weeks will be more so. This is because the great demand for wine making, the Italian and other people of foreign birth coming from long distances to the grape sections contracting for grapes. The Schuble grape juice plant at Highland purchases all the grapes that can be had and offers big money. Grape growers have been offered from $125 to $175 a ton for their crop. Prunettes in Kingston are selling Delaware and Niagara at 15 cents a pound and early Concord at $2 for a 18 pound basket. Prunettes are high and selling for 25 cents a quart, while a 14 quart basket sells for from $2.25 to $2.50. Last year there were quite a lot of Ulster county peaches. What makes peach high here is that they come from the Rochester or New Jersey market and freight rates are high. Apples are sold at all sorts of prices, bringing from 50 to 60 cents a 14 quart basket. Pears, being Bartlett and Sheldon, sell for 60 to 75 cents a basket.

In the vegetable line tomatoes bring 50 cents a peck basket full, lettuce 10 cents a head, celery 10 cents a bunch to 2 for 25 cents; cabbage remains about what it has been since it came in the market this summer, 5 to 10 cents a head. Squash sells at 50 cents a dozen, and white turnip at 6 cents a bunch.

Bananas are bringing wholesale 10 1/2 cents a pound or from $2.50 to $3 on the average for a 40 pound bunch.

SIXTH WARD FOLKS COMPLAIN OF ROACH PLANT

Delegation of Indignant Citizens
Wait on Health Board—Complain
Regarding Offensive Odors Signed
by Over One Hundred—To Ask
State Board to Investigate.

Monday evening a delegation of indignant residents of the Sixth ward waited on the board of health at the city hall to explain why over one hundred residents of that ward had signed a petition to the board asking relief from the "unbearable odors" from the Roach rendering plant at No. 40 Ann street. The petition was read and the delegation heard, and the board then referred the complaint to the health officer, instructing him to take the matter up with the state board of health at Albany, asking that they send an expert engineer here to make an investigation and report.

The delegation was headed by Morris Affron, and the other members were Morris Kalish, Michael Dean, Morris Adin, Robert Bailey, and Isaac A. Abrahams. It was the regular monthly meeting of the health board and Mayor Canfield presided with Commissioners Michael, McBride, Huhne and Kaufman present. The complaint regarding the offensive odors from the Roach plant was read, and then Mayor Canfield read extracts from the last report made on the plant by the state health department engineer.

State Investigated Before.
Monday's complaint was not the first that has been lodged against the rendering plant, and investigations were made both in 1917 and 1919, and while the reports from the state board did not positively state the plant was a nuisance it was stated that it was being operated as a nuisance, and made recommendations that if carried out would abate the nuisance. These recommendations the local board understand have been carried out by Mr. Roach.

Mr. Affron States His Position.
Morris Affron, who spoke for the delegation, said he thought that there was a city law or ordinance that there should be no glue, soap or rendering plant conducted in the city, and that such a law had been adopted about twenty years ago when Mr. Gibson had a soap factory on North Front street.

Mayor Canfield assured him that there was no such law, and that the city could not pass or enact such a law, but Mr. Affron appeared unconvinced as he had been informed that there had been trouble over the Gibson soap factory and such a law had been enacted at that time.

Will Take It To Court.
Mr. Affron then went on to describe conditions in the Sixth ward, and said that to use plain words the "stink" was horrible. The city is spending considerable money in child welfare work, but nothing has been done to abate this stench on Ann street, and our children will grow up consumptives. What is the use of spending money for child welfare work unless conditions are remedied that exist at this rendering plant.

"I am going to take this matter to court," said Mr. Affron. He added that the people who pass through Union street on the way to church hold their noses and remark, "Oh how can people stand it to live here with that awful odor."

"I can't sell my property," said Mr. Affron, "nor I can't give it away. No matter what the state board says there is a stink at the plant, and we can't stand it. Some days it is enough to suffocate us. I don't want to put Mr. Roach out of business, but let him stop cooking there. That is where all the stench comes from."

"Some folks ask me why did I erect such a fine building in that ward five years ago, and I answer them that it did not stink there then."

Anxious to Remedy Conditions.
Mayor Canfield said that the board wanted to do all in its power to remedy conditions, but there were certain provisions of the law that had to be followed. He said that the state board had a corps of trained engineers who have investigated the plant and made reports on it. In none of the reports was it stated positively that the plant was a nuisance, but it was being conducted as a nuisance which could be abated by carrying out certain recommendations which had been done.

He said that it would be necessary for the health board to refer the complaint to Health Officer Johnston instructing him to take the matter up with the state health department.

"Of course you can take it to court," said the mayor turning to Mr. Affron, "but you will find that it is hard to establish the proposition that the plant is a nuisance."

The mayor said that rendering plants were conducted in large cities and that there was no odor from them.

Mr. Affron said that in Newburgh they made them locate the rendering plants outside the city limits, and that was the place for any rendering plant and not in a crowded district.

After some further talk Mr. Affron suddenly said, "I will be honest with you, I did not expect you to stop Roach from cooking, but we wanted the board's decision so that when we go to court we can produce it."

summer is brought to a close this month. The board has employed Miss Florence McEntee as child welfare nurse during July, August and September. It is expected that next year the board will resume the welfare work.

ONE PUPIL FOR PART TIME SCHOOL

Fourteen-Year-Olds Not Attending School Regularly Found To Be Insufficient For Class and 15-Year-Olds, Estimated at 80 Are Next In Line For Call—Advisory Board Met.

Kingston's new part time school, which it was expected only the 14-year-old class would be summoned to attend this year, will have to be augmented by the attendance of the 15-year-old class, unless there is something wrong with the figures gathered by the school authorities. The new law provides that all children over the age of 14 and under the age of 18, not in regular attendance at school, shall attend a part time continuation school for a least four hours in each week of the school year. Local school authorities are permitted to tackle the job in installments and need not have the part time schools fully organized until 1925, although they must make a beginning this year. In Kingston it was supposed that the 14-year-old class would be sufficient to begin on and would be about all the local education machine could handle at the beginning. So orders were sent out accordingly and all 14-year-old children not in regular attendance were directed to report at the High School next Tuesday afternoon, under divers penalties to themselves, their parents or employers if they failed to obey. Then the regular school opened, the rolls were checked up and it was found that just one pupil was left to constitute the part time school. So the next class will now be called on and a total of about 30 pupils will, it is expected, be in attendance at the part time school, which will be held each Tuesday afternoon from 1 to 5 o'clock. Next year the 15-year-old class will be called out, adding probably 150 pupils to the school.

The training in the new school will be practical, largely vocational, and will include drawing, political and industrial history, labor laws, industrial arithmetic, etc. Girls will be taught to cook and sew.

All this and much more information about the new school was brought out at the first meeting of new advisory board, held at the high school Monday evening, at which all the members were present and the board organized by electing Vincent A. Gorman president. As indicated by its title, the function of this board is to give advice to the board of education regarding the new school, which advice is not binding on that body.

A new and charming portrait of the beautiful Lady Newborough, who was formerly Miss Grace Carr, of Louisville, Ky. She is the daughter of Colonel Henry Montgomery Carr, U. S. A. Her husband, the fourth Baron of Newborough, was killed in 1916 while serving as a Lieutenant in the Welsh Guards.

Not Altogether Birdlike. At a social evening one very musical young lady sang a song entitled "Sylvan Sonnets." It was very fine, indeed, and all the old ladies and gentlemen waxed quite enthusiastic.

"Most delightful!" gushed one dear old lady to a young man who flattered to be near her. "Isn't she a lovely singer?"

"Yes, quite good," replied the young fellow coolly.

"And didn't it remind you of the singing of birds? In fact," went on the good lady enthusiastically, "one might almost believe it really was a bird singing."

"Well, I don't know," remarked the man. "I never saw a bird sit down at a table and drink three cups of tea and eat two helpings of real-odd-ham pie and enough cake and sweets to stock a school treat."

Famous Men Look Alike. Houghton Mifflin company recently received a request from a distinguished member of the British parliament for an engraving of Hawthorne such as appears as a frontispiece in the standard edition of his works. It was, said the correspondent, for a "special purpose." Another letter told the purpose of the picture. It was framed and presented to Lloyd George, who has been, within the M. P., much impressed by the resemblance as shown by the portrait between Mr. Hawthorne and the prime minister.

Immense Coal Dump. The coal dump of the American Oil company at Lima, Pa., is said to be the largest in the world. It takes care of twenty-eight coal cars at one time, dumping them simultaneously at one aperture in eight seconds.

THE AMERICAN RED CROSS IN PEACE TIME

Boys and girls who learn early to take proper care of their teeth, through oral care and instruction, have made a long step toward healthy and sound lives. Through the peace health and nursing service, the American Red Cross also cooperates to reach all school children with teaching regarding disease prevention and health promotion. Here's a school nurse treating a little girl for sore throat, at the same time inspecting a valuable lesson in tooth-brushing and proper diet.

Ted Jones, head football coach at Yale, who hopes to round out a championship team for Old Eli this fall, Yale appears to be more successful than the other colleges in having suitable material. A number of last year's players are in line for their former positions and are rapidly rounding 1920 form.

In Grant's Cabinet. President Grant had two secretaries of state: Elihu B. Washburn of Maine was appointed March 3, 1869, but resigned six days later to accept the post of ambassador to France. Hamilton Fish succeeded Washburn. He was reappointed at the beginning of Grant's second term and remained to its end.

was defeated by the fast DePeyster

Athletic Field and judging from the results with Saugerties, the game Saturday should be the best one staged here this season. The De-Peyster team is one of the fastest bunch of players in this section and it will take the best Kingston has to trim them. This is the biggest at-entire season. A big guarantee has

THIS WINE WAS POWERFUL STUFF
After Drinking a Glass or So One Forgot Identity and Passions, and All Desire Was Centered in Sleep—It Seemed Like 1916 in Police Court Today.
"This looks like the usual morning lineup on any Monday morning in 1916," remarked Judge Schrick in police court when Jacob Baker of Accord, George Roasman of Shandaken
and Steven Kolk of Connelly were arraigned before him. All charged with public intoxication. All three pleaded guilty, and two were fined $5 each and the other $10.
The first man arraigned was George Roasman, who said he was single and lived in the chair factory in Shandaken. He was picked up Monday evening on West Strand near Canal street. When found by Officer Welch he was so sound asleep that it was impossible to awaken
him. It took three officers to lift him up, place him in the police car,
and escort him to the county jail.
When again the three officers had to carry him into his cell for the night.
George slept all through the commotion, and only awoke slightly and gave a first class imitation of how a person on shipboard acts after a hearty meal and before sea legs are acquired. Then he rolled over on his back and never awoke until it was time to bring him down to the city hall. He enriched the city treasury just $5.
Jacob Baker of Accord, who is married and has a family, did not get off so easily, but paid a fine of $10. He drove his Ford car into Kingston that morning and after parking it in front of a third emporium he proceeded to sample some. It resulted in his being found on Hasbrouck avenue, near Murray street, asleep in the gutter.
In fact he was sleeping so soundly that he had forgotten that he ever owned an auto or what his name was. Later in the evening he partially awoke and informed the officer that his auto stood somewhere in the city. It was found later in the evening and pled in the police garage.
The third drunk was Steven Kollick of Connelly, who is employed at the gas house in Ponckhockie. He was found sleeping in the stone yard on the strand by Officer Dempsey at 1:30 o'clock this morning. He claimed he had only drunk two glasses of wine. He was fined $5 and at the time this was written had not decided whether to spend five days in jail or pay his fine.
All three men stated that all they had drunk was wine. After two glasses they forgot their identity,
place of residence and any possessions they had with them.

Sheriff and Captain Reconciled.
Captain Young, of the Salvation Army, paid a visit to the city hall this morning as a result of a summons issued by Judge Schrick at the request of Sheriff Smith, who claimed that Captain Young and his army blockade runner on North Front street Sunday evening and he was unable to enter his automobile. The parties were confronted with Judge Schrick in his private office and it is understood the complaint was not pressed and that the sheriff and captain amicably settled their differences.

Waves of the United States.
A stray paragraph on "Waves of the United States" concerning ancient wars. Ten of these were conflicts with Indian tribes, of which the most important were probably the Black hawk war and the Seminole war. If these are called wars, an enormous might be added—the Mexican war of 1875. The important wars on the list are the War of the Revolution, the War of 1812, the Mexican war, the Civil war, the Spanish war, the war with Germany. The minor conflicts included in the list are: the war with France, 1793; the war with Tripoli, 1801; the Philippine war, 1898.

Mothers.
Observations made continuously from stations far apart have proved that the average mother who lives in about eighty cities and disappears from view at thirty miles, in other words, it travels fifty miles before the atmospheric friction comes to it. This friction, it is estimated, raises it to a temperature of something like 3000, 600 degrees, so that, unless of temperate, it has no chance to reach our planet.

GUEST CAME BACK AND CAUGHT 'EM
"You can't keep a good man down," and the second chapter in the fishing experience of a prominent Fair street business man and his guest is more interesting than the first chapter in which the guest fell in the water and came home with "fisherman's luck." A day or two ago the business man deciding that the music loving public might wait until the next day to make their purchases, closed his store and invited his guest to again try his luck, so the trusty Ford was again called upon.
Loading up a good supply of things to eat in case no fish were caught to satisfy the "latter man," the party, avoiding the slippery rocks of the Esopus, where the guest had experienced difficulties earlier in the week when he took an unexpected bath in the chilly water, motored to High Falls, where a boat was secured.
It had been a perfectly good boat years ago but time had opened the seams and miniature fountains played about the feet of the fishermen.
However, by taking turns at setting and fishing the party set out in search of some innocent fish. Bearing in mind his former experience with Ulster county fishing the guest carefully selected himself in the stern
of the boat and threw out his line.
There was a sudden tug and a big splash and a fine 12 inch black bass fell at the feet of the visitor. Whether it was just luck or due to the fact that former experience had taught him how to lure the fish, the guest hauled up half a dozen black bass, ranging from 12 to 14 inches in length, while the host caught nothing.
It was a complete "come-back"
on the part of the visitor, who is now very enthusiastic over Ulster county fishing and promises to come back again in a few weeks and show his host how to catch some real fish.
